The Battle of Antietam on September 17, 1862, the bloodiest single day of the Civil War, set the stage for the Battle of Antietam on September 17, 1862. Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee led the Army of Northern Virginia into Maryland to take the Union's capital. The two armies met at Sharpsburg, Maryland. The battle resulted in a strategic draw, but it marked a turning point for the Union, as it forced Lee to retreat back to Virginia.
